“Fictional Letter” - Boston Book Festival

Dear Friend,

By now you are likely wondering just who this person-- your kidney donor-- could possibly be. Today I reach out to share a warm hello. It is me.

I am a thirty-eight-year-old white female, and I live in Newton, Massachusetts (born and raised). Last year, while lost in a difficult period, I saw a documentary about altruistic kidney donation. As the credits rolled, I felt shocked by the daily hardship of so many people in need. Equipped with this new awareness, I set forth on a journey to offer a great gift, to do my part in bettering a fellow human's life.

I'm so grateful to the MGH transplant team, who held my hand from my very first blood test. I myself know something of suffering, but from those experiences I've learned courage and perseverance. Whatever you've endured, remember that you are never alone.

A few things about me: I like sailing, camping, jewelry, and cats.

My journey to you has entailed immense time, money, and yes-- pain. But throughout it all I found a profound sense of purpose, knowing that your life depended on my gift.

Now I smile at the thought that you are enjoying renewed health. I hope-- with all my heart-- that you feel emboldened with a new sense of hope.

Naturally, I am curious about your healing, and perspective on our shared experience. Perhaps we could meet. If you'd rather not, that's fine, but I'll leave my number here regardless. Consider it token of my affection-- a lifeline, should you ever need reminding that you are loved.

Kindly,

Rose M. Rothario
